

M.U. ACTIVE IN DAIRY EXTENSION

Cow Testing Associations and Co-operative Creameries Being Formed.

A. C. Ragsdale, extension assistant professor in the University, has recently organized a Cow Testing Association in Marion County. This is a co-operative organization which employs a tester to keep records of feed and butter-fat. The results show the net profit of each dairyman at the end of the month.

Another piece of dairy extension work done by the University is an attempt at Republic to organize a co-operative creamery. Two meetings were held, and a committee is now at work on the enterprise. The creamery is to be similar to one at Marionville, twelve miles from Republic. This, according to Mr. Ragsdale, is the most successful creamery in the state, from the standpoint of prices paid to farmers.

An Ayrshire breeding association has been organized at Mansfield. Two years ago the University lent an Ayrshire bull to a short course student in that community. This caused an interest to be taken in pure-bred stock, especially in this breed. Now the University is lending two more Ayrshire bulls to the association for three years or longer. This is carrying out the University's policy of encouraging breeding associations, especially in communities that cannot afford expensive stock.

ASKS NAMES FOR NEW SCHOOL

Board of Education to Let People Name Range Line Building.

The Board of Education at its meeting last night decided to ask for suggestions from the people of Columbia for a name for the new Range line grade school which is now being erected. Persons wishing to suggest a name are requested to hand or mail their choice to John L. Henry, secretary of the board, by Monday evening, November 20.

MINISTER, 79 YEARS OLD,
GOES TO SCHOOL AT M.U.

To W. C. ("Pater") Curtis goes the honor of being the oldest "young man" frequenting the classrooms of the University of Missouri.

Mr. Curtis, who lives with his son, W. C. Curtis, Jr., professor in the College of Agriculture, at 208 Hicks Avenue, is well past his 79th birthday. Years have in no way quenched his thirst for knowledge and his enjoyment of things intellectual, however, and he is a frequent hearer in various University classes.

"I enjoy hearing the lectures of the University professors," said Mr. Curtis. "Whenever they are going to lecture on some subject of importance, many of them tell me, and I am always on hand. I have attended the class in appreciation of music and have also attended lectures in physics, history, sociology, philosophy and zoology this year."

Mr. Curtis is a retired Congregational minister, having given up his final pastorate at The Dalles, Oregon, in 1898. While active in the ministry he was known widely for his liberal views on religion, in contrast to the general conservatism of the leaders of his denomination.

Following his retirement from the ministry, Mr. Curtis studied basketry as a hobby, starting a collection of woven grass baskets that now includes 115 baskets of American Indian make and 20 pieces representing the weaving art in Africa, India, Japan, China, Java, Australia, and the islands of the sea. For some time he traveled over the United States lecturing on his collection. Boston and New York were included in his lecture tours. The Curtis living room is tastefully decorated with a part of this collection.

The Phi Mu Alpha concert series has a staunch advocate in Mr. Curtis, who may be found occupying a front seat at every program. The recent lectures of Dr. H. H. Powers have been regularly attended by him. "Any student who has not attended these lectures shouldn't be allowed to attend school," is the way Mr. Curtis expresses his appreciation of the words of such men as Doctor Powers.

M. U. WOMEN FAVOR
MORE CO-OPERATION

Mass Meeting Is Told About Work of Four School Organizations.

ALUMNAE PLAN HELP

Local Association Votes $100 Toward Obtaining Building for the Coeds.

Co-operation was the keynote of the women's mass meeting held in the University Auditorium Friday.

Miss Gladys Udell, president of the Women's Student Government Association, Miss Mary McDaniel, president of the Young Women's Christian Association, Miss Kate Child, president of Alpha Phi Sigma, and Miss Katherine King, president of the Women's Athletic Association, explained the purpose and work of the organizations which they represent. Mrs. A. H. K. Fairchild talked on the vocational bureau of the local Association of Collegiate Alumnae. There are 4,000 recognized vocations, of which only 4 are closed to women. Books dealing with choosing vocations will be placed in the library, and talks will be given to women about this work. The bureau is not a placement bureau, but will be in touch with such organizations.

Miss Louise Nardin spoke of what the Missouri Union means to women. Every University woman will be given an opportunity to join the Union in the next few days.

It was decided that the women of the University will have a separate section at the games in the future, in the hope that more girls will attend and that the men will prove better rooters.

The Association of Collegiate Alumnae met at the home of Miss Eva Johnston Friday afternoon. Thirty-five members were present. Miss Eva Johnston, at which 100 was appropriate. West of Stephens College led to the fund for the women's building.

"WAX WORKS" TO BE REPEATED

Success of Home Talent Farce Calls For Second Performance.

"Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works," a farce, will be repeated by the Association of Collegiate Alumnae at 8 o'clock next Tuesday night in the University Auditorium. The play was so well received when it was recently staged that there has been a demand for its reproduction. The admission fee will be 25 cents.

The cast is: Double-Headed Girl, Misses Glory Kirk and Evelyn Joslyn; Mrs. S. A. Winslow, Mrs. Walter Miller; Feejee Mermaid, Miss Mary Stewart; Maniac, Miss Marion Hertig; Siamese Twins, Misses Eva Johnston and Pearl Mitchell; Welsh Dwarf, Oliver Williams; Vocalist, Miss Mary Stewart; Dancing Girl, Miss Groves; Spratts, Miss Eleanor Taylor and Lee Lozier; Lord Byron, H. F. Carlton; Child Harold, Margaret Alms; Bachelor and His Future Wife, Miss Julie Anderson and Wilson Hudson; Bearded Woman, Miss Edith Cummings; Unfortunate Giggler, Miss Kate Child; Crying Girl, Miss Virginia Strosler; Old King Cole, Prof. Jesse Wrench; Gold Dust Twins, Misses Margaret Post and Mary Skidmore; The Deceased Mrs. Jarley, Prof. F. F. Stephens; Chinese Giant, Luckett Smith; Mrs. Jarley, Miss Caroline Stewart.

SUFFRAGE CATALOGUE LISTS 622

Miss Ethel Howes, National Secretary, Commends Work of Local Chapter.

Of the 800 women in the University, 622 have signed up for the suffrage catalogue: 375 are for, 115 indifferent to, 26 against, and six interested in, but not decided as to, suffrage. Plans are being made to get the 175 other signatures and complete the catalogue.

Miss Loretta Funke, secretary of the local chapter of the National College Equal Suffrage League, reports that the members are pleased with the work accomplished so far. She has received from Miss Ethel Howes, national secretary, commending the work at the University of Missouri, especially the methods used to obtain new members.

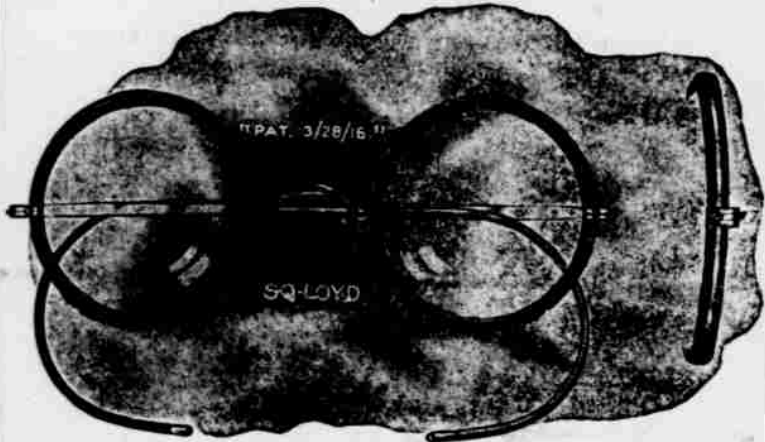

The next meeting of the league will be at 7 p. m. next Thursday. The subject for discussion will be "Suffrage in Other Countries." Miss Mildred Minden, a student in the University, whose home is in London, England, will talk on "Feminism in England."

Journalism Graduate Qualifies for Lieutenantcy From Civil Life.

Richard G. Tindall, a graduate of the School of Journalism of the University, now night editor of the St. Louis Republic, is listed among the candidates found qualified from civil life for provisional appointments as officers in the United States army, announced Friday by Brigadier General McCain, adjutant general of the army. The names of 447 candidates examined last August are on the list made up of candidates from civil life, enlisted men, Philippine scouts and National Guardsmen. The candidates have qualified for second lieutenantships.

The number of second lieutenants obtaining these appointments is larger than any graduating class at West Point, making this the largest number of officers added to the army in one group since the close of the Civil War. Provisional commissions will be issued immediately to the new officers, who will be assigned to regiments for a year's work at actual soldiering before they can be finally accepted.

GOVERNOR NAMES COMMITTEES

Junketing and Auditing Bodies Are Appointed by Major.

Gov. Major today appointed the members of the Auditing and Junketing committees. Upon the Auditing Committee he named Senator John F. Morton of Ray County, and Representatives Rich Correll of Randolph and A. H. Rickoff of Osage. Rickoff is a Republican.

In the Junketing Committee the governor appointed Senator C. M. Buford of Reynolds County and Representatives W. L. Shouse of Shelby and P. H. Barris of Lawrence. Barris is a Republican.

The Visiting Committee, nicknamed the "Junketing" Committee, visits the state educational, penal and eleemosynary institutions and reports upon their condition and estimates financial needs for maintenance and improvement for the biennial period.

Howard Ellis of New Florence was picked by the governor as secretary of the Junketing Committee, and A. H. Zollner of Perryville as secretary of the Auditing Committee.

The Auditing Committee will be organized, November 20, and the Junketing Committee, December 4.
